Milton, Florida November 14, 2006

Hi All

With family and friends all over the planet it is difficult to keep in touch. We will attempt to give you information using this format.

We are now with Jeff & Kim in Milton, Florida surveying the North Western Florida and Southern Alabama area to see if there is a market for a small exclusive lab specializing in customized dental ceramics.

We have of course found our way to the beach. After 12 years on the West coast of Africa it is time to check out the Mexican Gulf. The aftermath of Katrina is everywhere to be seen. Reroofing of houses. For sale signs on empty lots. Building of condo complexes. Part of Santa Rosa Island is closed of for cars, maybe not to be reopened. The island looks like it has been vacuumed and afterwards has had enormous amounts of sand blown on it.

Which is actually what happened, the hurricane did the vacuuming and the rebuilding effort the sand blowing.

We have found two hang outs, McGuire's Irish Pub in Destin and Reggie's in Milton. McGuire's home brew and is good at it, and Reggie's has very good seafood.

Joni has started to contact dentist offices and we are awaiting responses.

We will drive up to Birmingham for Thanksgiving with the family. The kids have grown a lot. Trevor is now a performing teenager of 16! Molly has made Jani a great grandmother.

Have fun
Joni & Peter
